TERRITORY IN AFRICA WRESTED FROM GERMANY IS A PRODUCTIVE REGION

(By Associated Press.)

CAPETOWN, Aug. 20.—Plans for the development of German Southwest Africa as a part of the Union of South Africa are going forward rapidly. The government announced a few days ago that it soon would unfold a scheme for sending large numbers of colonists from various parts of South Africa into the conquered territory, which contains 322,000 square miles and is more than six times the size of England. In area it equals the size of the Cape and Natal provinces combined.

Walvis bay, one of the finest harbors in the world, in the opinion of the shipping men here, is destined to become a greater port than Durban. It will be developed with a view to making it the port and health resort for Johannesburg. It already is possible to enter a train at Johannesburg and embark at Walvis bay for Europe. This is due to the linking up of the railway from the Cape Northwest with the German lines.

Dr. William Macdonald, editor of the Agricultural Journal, published in Johannesburg, recently has made a trip through Southwest Africa for the purpose of studying its agricultural possibilities. He says:

"The country is made up of three agricultural zones, southern, central and northern. In the first the rainfall averages seven inches. There is a great variety of soil, but much of it is of a brackish, alkaline nature. There are nevertheless numerous fodder and salt bushes which stock feed upon. In the Kalahari region the sweet team-melon is found.

"In the second zone the rainfall averages 15 inches, and the country is similar to the bush and veldt lands of the Transvaal, being well supplied with rich sweet grass and valuable native bushes. The most elevated parts are excellent alike for cattle, sheep and horses.

"The third zone has about 20 to 27 inches of rainfall. The eastern portion consists of flat, loamy plains well suited for agricultural operations, while in the east there are good rains and much grass, the region being well suited for semi-tropical culture."

WORLD WAR FROM CHINESE STANDPOINT

(By Associated Press.)

PEKING, Aug. 20.—Some interesting Chinese views as to American interest in the far east appear in a book which has been written by J. Wong-Quincy under the title "The Great World War from the Chinese Standpoint."

The author's father was, while a child, adopted by the famous British general, Charles George Gordon, known as "Chinese Gordon," while he was in command of the "Ever-Victorious Army," which, in 33 rapid engagements quelled the Taiping rebellion in 1863.

"We deceive ourselves," says the writer, "if we are led to expect any substantial assistance from the United States of America."

"For all practical purposes America will remain a negligible factor in the far eastern question as we have it today. Until some radical change is brought about in the far eastern situation, she will continue to fill the honorable role of a mild upholder of universal peace and good will among nations; and it is difficult to blame her for it. We have seen that the position of America in world politics is essentially a defensive one; so long as she herself is not unduly threatened, so long as she obtains free play for her commercial enterprise, she sees no reason to meddle seriously in the affairs of other nations.

"America has no inordinate ambition for colonial expansion, so we are not in a position to offer her anything which can induce her to undertake our perils and share our burdens. No doubt can be entertained about the sincerity of America's good will towards China; but good will alone is a factor which counts for little in international diplomacy as we know it, however, it is conceivable that the Japanese menace in the Pacific may, in the near future, become increasingly pressing, and when it is too late to interfere the United States may have reason to regret her past inaction. America could well have intervened in Korea; again she was presented with an opportunity to check Japanese designs in Manchuria; and now for the third time her interference is

WOMEN REVEAL NEW SPHERE OF ACTION

WILL HOLD NINETY CONVENTIONS AT PANAMA-PACIFIC EXPOSITION

(Special to the Bonanza.)
SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 20.—Women are bringing their clear vision and great heart interest to nearly every large and important congress and convention of the 825 convening in connection with the Panama-Pacific International exposition during 1915. Ninety of these congresses and conventions are of women's organizations exclusively. This is ten times as many conventions of women as ever before met at a world's fair.

RATIONING OF COTTON OPENS UP AN INTERESTING INTERNATIONAL PROBLEM

(By Associated Press.)

LONDON, Aug. 20.—"There is no such thing as a complete solution of the cotton problem," declares the Times in a long article discussing the purchase of the American crop by Great Britain, and then the "rationing" of necessary supplies to neutrals under strict government supervision.

"Germany has as her near neighbor," explains the Times, "the five neutral states of Holland, Denmark, Norway, Sweden and Switzerland. These states have rights which we cannot ignore."

"But we may justly complain when we find them importing from seventeen to eighteen times as much cotton as they need for their domestic consumption and exporting the surplus, or a large part of it, to the enemy, who cannot obtain it elsewhere, who cannot produce it himself, and to whom a constant supply of this indispensable raw material is vital to his military strength."

"What the British government has done is to seek a way out by a series of friendly and private agreements. All cotton entering Holland, for instance, is liable to seizure unless it is consigned to the Netherlands Overseas trust, which is under heavy bonds to prevent its re-export to Germany. In Sweden an arrangement has more recently been made with an association of cotton spinners with the object of limiting the exportation of cotton into that country to the needs of its domestic manufacturers. This seems to me the only principle that is at once sound and effective on which we can proceed. The arrangement with the Dutch merchants has been proved to be anything but watertight, largely because it does not expressly limit the amount of cotton that may be imported."

"If we were to establish in each of the northern kingdoms a receiving agency to which alone cotton might be consigned, and if we were definitely to fix the number of bales that might be imported, using as an index the average domestic consumption (or perhaps a little more) of each country during the three years before the war, we should then have gone some way towards solving this particular branch of the problem."

TO RECORD WAR IN MOTION PICTURES

(By Associated Press.)

LONDON, Aug. 20.—Under the authority of the war office, arrangements have just been completed for taking a complete moving-picture record of events of the war in the British lines, both at the front and along the lines of communication.

The leading film producers and exhibitors, it is announced, have been brought into a co-operative scheme, so that no single firm shall have a

One complete set of the pictures will be retained by the war office for historical records and instruction. This set will eventually be placed in the British Museum. The board of education is expected to co-operate in a scheme for the use of the films in the public schools.

ple have given to the memory of Henry W. Denison, the American adviser to their department of foreign affairs, the same tribute they pay to their own dead. When the first anniversary of Mr. Denison's death recently occurred, his tomb in the Tokyo cemetery was visited by a number of prominent personages who reverently placed wreaths there. Among the visitors were Baron Kato, the minister for foreign affairs, and Viscount Uchida and Baron Takahira, formerly Japanese ambassador at Washington. Post Wheeler, charge d'affaires for the American government, left a wreath in behalf of the United States embassy.

Mr. Denison was born in Vermont, and became adviser to the Japanese minister of foreign affairs in 1880. He was highly esteemed by the Japanese people. The tombstone recently erected for him here bears an inscription written by the emperor.
